Hörmann UK showcase expertise at The Building Centre, London

Hörmann UK has opened an exhibition space at the popular Building Centre in London, to demonstrate the wide-ranging benefits of its extensive product portfolio to architects and specifiers. Celebrating its 90th birthday, the Building Centre promotes innovation in the built environment and provides Hörmann with the opportunity to provide professionals across the Capital with a collaborative and engaging environment where they can gain inspiration and advice for upcoming projects.

Hörmann UK's popular PORTAL Journal, which showcases and explores the latest trends and advancements in architecture in Europe across 50 issues, will be hosted on an interactive podium to demonstrate the impressive capabilities of Hörmann's product offering.

Visitors will be able to use a digital platform to access information regarding Hörmann's diverse product range, including multi-function and fire rated steel doors for commercial construction projects, and its high quality and aesthetically striking internal doors for residential developments. Information regarding Hörmann's popular and robust loading solutions for the logistics industry will also be available, along with its high-quality range of perimeter protection products, including sliding gates and mobile vehicle barriers.

The exhibit will also present architects and specifiers with the opportunity to access technical information and specifications on each of the product ranges by scanning a QR Code.

Wolfgang Gorner, Managing Director at Hörmann UK, said: "The Hörmann brand is renowned throughout Europe for providing the highest standards in quality, aesthetics and functionality. Our exhibit at The Building Centre in London is to provoke conversations and ideas about how Hörmann products could help in your next project. It is also a perfect opportunity to provide architects and specifiers with the key benefits of our diverse product portfolio, by either talking with one of our experts or simply via the touch of a button.

“We look forward to welcoming professionals on to our stand to meet with our experienced team to discuss upcoming projects and gain inspiration.”
