Another helping hand from Hörmann UK

Always leading the market when it comes to supplying support to their network of dealers and installers, Hörmann UK have launched a new brochure detailing the range of professional, eye-catching promotional support materials that are now available.

The brochure illustrates the comprehensive selection of off-the-shelf items which can be used in dealer showrooms, at exhibitions, and for promotional events. Ranging from large door stands to house both garage and entrance doors, through to their new sectional garage door consultation cabinet, the safe and professional display of Hörmann products has never been easier. Display stands featuring surface finish samples and corner samples, together with graphic banners, a huge selection of posters and large graphics for both internal and external use are also featured. Simple finishing touches such as presentation trays for operator hand transmitters, flags, literature stands, and floor mats all add to a range of materials which create a positive and informative experience for the end consumer.

To find out how Hörmann promotional support materials can add to the buying experience of your customers and to see the complete range on offer, Hörmann dealers should talk to their Area Sales Manager. Or to obtain a copy of the brochure please contact Bella Kemp info@hormann.co.uk
