A Full House from Hörmann

Hörmann UK has recently completed a full-house door installation at a private residence in Whitwick, Coalville – showcasing the brand's wide-ranging capabilities in supplying high-quality garage and entrance doors.

The installation comprises a fully automated RenoMatic sectional garage door, a Thermo 46 steel front door with glazed side panel, and two Hörmann Truedor composite back doors – all supplied in a sleek and contemporary Anthracite grey to deliver a unified and sophisticated exterior finish.

At the heart of the property is the garage which is fitted with a Hörmann RenoMatic L-ribbed sectional door, with a Slategrain surface finish. Part of Hörmann's competitively priced RenoMatic range, this door combines the robust build quality of the LPU 42 sectional door with the performance of a SupraMatic operator – allowing for rapid opening speeds of up to 25cm per second. For enhanced convenience and control, the operator also supports smart connectivity via a Smart phone or the Hörmann BlueSecur app. As standard*, all RenoMatic garage doors are supplied with Secured by Design accreditation, providing homeowners with added peace of mind.

The front entrance features a high-performance Thermo 46 steel door complete with a contemporary stainless steel bar handle and sandblasted glazed panel. Built for maximum security and thermal efficiency, the Thermo 46 door offers a 46mm thick insulated leaf, set within a durable aluminium frame – an ideal choice for energy-conscious homeowners.

Completing the installation are two composite doors, one fitted as the back door in the main house and the other as a side door for the garage. Both doors are from the Hörmann Truedor range in the Conwy style, finished with matching Anthracite grey frames to continue the home's cohesive aesthetic.

“This project is a great example of how Hörmann can offer homeowners a fully integrated solution for all their door needs,” said David O’Mara, Marketing Manager at Hörmann UK. “From garage to front and back doors, we provide a wide selection of styles, materials, and finishes – all manufactured to the highest standards and available at a range of price points. All our products are also CO₂ neutral, offering the market sustainable options without compromise.”

*Applies to all registered LPU 42/67 unmodified sectional garage doors, using a Hormann operator and fitted behind the opening. To register your door, email us at info@hormann.co.uk.
