NT60 Sectional Garage Side Doors Now Available on Fast Track from Hörmann

Hörmann UK has announced that its popular NT60 sectional garage side doors are now available on Fast Track delivery, with a commitment to supply in just three to four weeks from point of order. This significant reduction in lead times enables installers to respond faster to customer demand while continuing to offer a premium, market-leading garage side door solution.

The new Fast Track programme opens up further opportunities to supply homeowners with the convenience of additional access to their garage - all perfectly matched to their main garage door. Manufactured to the same exacting standards as Hörmann's renowned sectional garage doors, the NT60 side door range delivers robust construction, precision engineering, and a high degree of security for added peace of mind.

With this major enhancement in lead time, Hörmann is making it easier than ever for the trade to specify and install a fully coordinated garage door package without extended waiting periods. The improved delivery represents an exceptional turnaround not previously available from Hörmann for this product category.

The Fast Track programme encompasses both single-leaf and double-leaf NT60 sectional side doors, with no size limitations, providing maximum flexibility for projects of all sizes. A range of practical hardware options is included, such as the electric strike upgrade, standard lever handle sets, and standard hinge colour finishes, ensuring suitability for a wide variety of applications. Installers can also choose between block frame and corner frame configurations to suit different site requirements, helping to streamline specification and installation.

In terms of finishes, the Fast Track programme also includes a wide choice of surface finishes to suit a variety of property styles. M and L-ribbed designs are offered in Woodgrain, Silkgrain and Planar finishes, available in seven popular colours including Anthracite grey, Jet black, and White aluminium. Decograin options in Golden Oak and Dark Oak, enable homeowners to achieve an authentic timber-effect appearance.

By combining shortened lead times, a broad range of options and the renowned Hörmann build quality, the NT60 Fast Track programme gives the trade a faster, more flexible way to deliver a fully coordinated garage door package.
