New Colour Promotion for Hörmann NT60 Side Doors

Hörmann UK is giving installers an added sales opportunity this autumn with the launch of a limited-time colour promotion on its popular NT60 and NT60-2 sectional garage side doors. From 1st August to 30th October, customers can upgrade to two of the most sought-after contemporary colours - Jet Black (RAL 9005) or Anthracite Grey (RAL 7016), in either Silkgrain or Woodgrain finishes, for the same price as Traffic White (RAL 9016).

The promotion provides installers with an ideal opportunity to offer homeowners premium colour choices at no additional cost, helping to add value while meeting the growing demand for stylish, coordinated garage door solutions.

The offer is further enhanced by Hörmann's recently introduced Fast Track programme, which enables NT60 and NT60-2 sectional garage side doors to be supplied in just three to four weeks from receipt of order. Concealed hinges are also included as standard at no additional cost, delivering an even higher specification as part of the package.

Designed to complement Hörmann's range of sectional garage doors, the NT60 side door range provides homeowners with convenient everyday access to the garage while creating a fully coordinated appearance. Manufactured to the same exacting standards as Hörmann's garage doors, the NT60 combines robust construction, precision engineering and high levels of security with an attractive, contemporary design.

The Fast Track programme covers both single and double-leaf side doors, with no size restrictions, providing installers with maximum flexibility across a wide variety of residential projects. A choice of block frame or corner frame configurations is available to suit different installation requirements, together with practical hardware options including electric strike upgrades, standard lever handle sets and standard hinge colour finishes.

Alongside the promotional colours, the Fast Track range is available in a wide variety of colours, finishes and designs. For homeowners seeking the appearance of natural timber, Decograin finishes in Golden Oak and Dark Oak are also available.

By combining an attractive colour promotion with significantly reduced lead times and a comprehensive range of design options, Hörmann is making it easier than ever for installers to deliver premium garage side door solutions that combine style, convenience and exceptional value.

The NT60 colour promotion is available on orders placed between 1st August and 30th October 2026.
